Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with some warm early spring sunshine.

Today:
Perhaps rather cloudy to start, but some decent sunny spells should develop through the morning, lasting into the afternoon. Feeling pleasantly warm in the sunshine, despite the northwesterly breeze freshening during the day. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Early evening sunshine will give way to thickening cloud from the north, perhaps bringing the odd spot of drizzle overnight. A few clear spells developing again later. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Sunday:
Another dry day with variable cloud cover and some sunshine breaking through from time to time. Feeling somewhat cooler than on Saturday, though winds will be light. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Staying dry with some occasional brightness on Monday and for much of Tuesday. Some rain is expected late in the day on Tuesday, with brighter skies returning by Wednesday.
